GONTREL — "She's Still Scrolling?"

PRODUCTION SCRIPT

SCENE 1

OFFICE (INT.) — END OF DAY

Desks, laptops closing, that "day's done" energy — bags being packed, one girl stretching, casual post-work chat as they wind down.

| GIRL A (white, packing up, a little tired/wistful)
"I really want to go somewhere nice to eat."

| GIRL B (Black, glancing over from her desk)
"Just check TikTok."

Girl A opens TikTok, starts scrolling. Quick flash-cut of her still scrolling — no lingering.

| GIRL C (white, grabbing her bag, noticing)
"She has... been scrolling for the past 30 minutes!"

| GIRL B
"What about Gontrel?"

| GIRL A (not looking up)
"What's that?"

| GIRL C
"Oh, it's the app that shows you exactly where to eat. No scrolling forever."

| GIRL A (genuinely surprised)
"How have I never heard of this before?"

3D screen projection moment: the app UI floats up from the phone, scrolling through four restaurant options in space. Low-angle close-up on all three girls' faces, lit by the screen glow — gasp lands as the projection hits, not after.

| GIRL A
"That's it, that's the one."

SCENE 2

OFFICE / TRANSITION (INT.) — QUICK MONTAGE

Quick cuts: grabbing bags, coats, mirror check, heading for the door — fast, energetic, minimal dialogue.

SCENE 3

EXTERIOR → RESTAURANT ENTRANCE

Walking up together, straight to the door. Kept minimal — a beat or two, no dialogue.

SCENE 4

INTERIOR RESTAURANT

| OWNER / WAITRESS / CHEF

"We're doing a survey — how did you find us?"

| ALL THREE (in unison)

"Gontrel!"

(mildly confused, polite) "Oh, nice."

CLOSING SHOT

RESTAURANT TABLE

They settle into their seats, laughing, relaxed. Foreground composition: phone resting on the table, Gontrel app visible on screen, restaurant scene softly out of focus behind it.

| "Stop scrolling. Start eating."

Production note: Scene 1 relocated to an office end-of-day setting per client direction — gives Girl A's opening line natural motivation and sets up a wardrobe contrast (office wear → going-out look) heading into Scene 2. Pacing tightened throughout to land at ~40s scripted, keeping buffer under the 45s hard cap once edited.
